A Wrinkle in Time is the winner of the 1963 Newbery Medal. It was a dark and stormy night—Meg Murry, her small brother Charles Wallace, and her mother had come down to the kitchen for a midnight snack when they were upset by the arrival of a most disturbing stranger. "Wild nights are my glory," the unearthly stranger told them. "I just got caught in a downdraft and blown off course. Let me sit down for a moment, and then I'll be on my way. Speaking of ways, by the way, there is such a thing as a tesseract." A tesseract (in case the reader doesn't know) is a wrinkle in time. To tell more would rob the reader of the enjoyment of Miss L'Engle's unusual book. A Wrinkle in Time, winner of the Newbery Medal in 1963, is the story of the adventures in space and time of Meg, Charles Wallace, and Calvin O'Keefe (athlete, student, and one of the most popular boys in high school). They are in search of Meg's father, a scientist who disappeared while engaged in secret work for the government on the tesseract problem.

Hiroshima is the story of six people--a clerk, a widowed seamstress, a physician, a Methodist minister, a young surgeon, and a German Catholic priest--who lived through the greatest single manmade disaster in history. In vivid and indelible prose, Pulitzer Prize-winner John Hersey traces the stories of these half-dozen individuals from 8:15 a.m. on August 6, 1945, when Hiroshima was destroyed by the first atomic bomb ever dropped on a city, through the hours and days that followed. Almost four decades after the original publication of this celebrated book, Hersey went back to Hiroshima in search of the people whose stories he had told, and his account of what he discovered is now the eloquent and moving final chapter of Hiroshima.

With clarity, verve, and the sure instincts of a good teacher, Madison Smartt Bell offers a roll-up-your-sleeves approach to writing in this much-needed book. Focusing on the big picture as well as the crucial details, Bell examines twelve stories by both established writers (including Peter Taylor, Mary Gaitskill, and Carolyn Chute) and his own former students. A story's use of time, plot, character, and other elements of fiction are analyzed, and readers are challenged to see each story's flaws and strengths. Careful endnotes bring attention to the ways in which various writers use language. Bell urges writers to develop the habit of thinking about form and finding the form that best suits their subject matter and style. His direct and practical advice allows writers to find their own voice and imagination.

“Look, Mick,” he said, “you’re going to find out from somebody in the gym, so you might as well find out from me. Those supplements you’re taking? They might get you a little bigger, but just a little. If you’re after serious results, there’s other stuff that produces better results much faster, stuff that a lot of guys in the gym use.” “What other stuff?” “You know what I’m talking about—gym candy.” Runningback Mick Johnson has dreams: dreams of cutting back, finding the hole, breaking into the open, and running free with nothing but green grass ahead. He has dreams of winning and of being the best. But football is a cruel sport. It requires power, grace, speed, quickness, and knowledge of the game. It takes luck, too. One crazy bounce can turn a likely victory into sudden defeat. What elite athlete wouldn’t look for an edge? A way to make him bigger, stronger, faster? This novel explores the dark corners of the heart of a young football player as he struggles for success under the always glaring—and often unforgiving—stadium lights.

It is necessary to integrate literature in the field of education, students will not only get the competence or certain knowledge of the subject, they can also learn to become better people in the future. The Sanata Dharma English Education Study Program continuously and consistently maintains it by having several literary courses. There is an Introduction to Literature, Prose, Poetry, Drama, and Play Performance. The author combines Ignatian Pedagogy as the spirit of Sanata Dharma University, including the use of technology "Learning" as a learning platform, and the latest news related to the topics in this book. The author hopes that readers will explore and understand themselves in order to act in the future after completing all this. The use of technology is applied by completing exercises that can improve their language skills and publish the results to "Learn" so they can learn together. In accordance with the material, this book not only provides a number of short stories and novels related to education from outside our beloved country such as Miss Awful, the Scholarship Jacket, Tobermory, Everything Changes, Two Friends, Happy Prince and Toto Chan. This paper also provides some exercises and discussion about the Javanese Princess Letter which is a compilation of Raden Ajeng Kartini's letters to her Dutch friends in the English version. This is done as an effort to find out the history of education in Indonesia and it is hoped that readers will not only study education in different countries but also reflect education in Indonesia.

Swinton's Story-teller

This book contains some of the most powerful and effective gap-bridging units. What makes them gap-bridging is not their physical composition alone; but rather, it is their tandem use and application. There are essentially three components to the units: a vocabulary list, complete with part of speech and denotations; a grammatically incorrect short story that features the same vocabulary words from the first component list; and a set of comprehension / discussion questions that focus back to the short story. When protocols are followed, these exercises are enormously effective! My students have grown tremendously over the years!
